

Abstract of the Disclosure

The invention relates to prosthetic devices that include antimicrobial substances for reducing microbial infection, and method of using such implants for repairing, reconstructing and/or augmenting a defect or a weakness in a wall of a muscle, tissue or organ.